CHURCH RESOURCE 2011

Have an inspired Mothering Sunday with our new church resource

Recognising the importance of our own mothers and those who have nurtured and cared for us, we invite you to remember courageous mothers like Julia in Bangladesh. In poor communities mothers are often the difference between life and death for their malnourished children. Join us celebrating their love, commitment and perseverance this Mothering Sunday.

Julia's story

Displaced by the floods and struggling to survive, Julia feared for her children. She couldn't see a way out of their desperate situation, until she was invited to join a local group for vulnerable young mums like herself.

Determined to lift her children out of harms way, Julia met with her group each week to learn basic skills and practical, yet lifesaving knowledge to protect her children's health and build for their future.

Today Julia bears little resemblance to the young girl who moved starving from the river bank, she has her own small business and dreams of supporting her children through higher education - giving them the opportunities that she never had.

Knowing that she can feed and provide for her children has given her the confidence and experience to support others in need. Elected as a leader in her village, Julia now brings hope to other vulnerable families.
